Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 06 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A largely dry night, with some showers towards the morning.

This Evening and Tonight:
Through the evening, any residual showers will clear eastwards, leaving dry conditions across the region, with patchy cloud. A few showers are likely to develop towards dawn, as further cloud approaches from the east. Feeling cooler than recently. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Monday:
While most will see a dry start, some isolated showers linger through the morning, before scattered showers develop throughout in the afternoon. Generally cloudy, but more sunny spells later. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Dry and bright on Tuesday. Rain arriving through Wednesday morning, continuing into the afternoon. A mixture of scattered showers and sunny spells on Thursday. Winds strengthening throughout this period.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.